HEAD'S STAFF FEARS AS £35K RULE BEGINS

School faces 10 per cent loss of teachers in crackdown

William Mata

william.mata@
hertsexnews.co.uk

THE principal of one of Harlow's secondary schools fears it could lose 10 per cent of its staff because of a Government crackdown on immigration.

Passmore Academy head Vic Goddard said eight employees from non-European Union countries could be affected by the new rule, which requires them to earn at least £35,000 annually or face deportation.

"It is completely illogical," said Mr Goddard. "Staff are generally reacting with bewilderment."

"It will impact on teaching but it's probably even worse for the NHS and nurses."

Force

The new rule, which came into force yesterday (Wednesday, April 6) was drawn up by Conservative Home Secretary Theresa May in 2012 as a way of cutting migration levels. Non-EU migrants will face deportation at the end of their five-year working visa if they do not earn the benchmark salary.

Mr Goddard said: "Due to the low numbers of teachers applying for jobs nationally, the challenge of recruiting the highest quality of staff is increasing."

"This has meant for the last few years we have widened our recruitment net and last year members of our team went to South Africa and Canada to carry out interviews. However, this change in the law could now negatively impact on that as gaining long-term visas will be very difficult without paying the staff over 35k immediately."

"We will be okay this year but we may not be every year that follows," said Mr Goddard. "The Government has failed to recruit enough teachers to meet their own targets for the last three years and all schools are feeling that. It's about having people apply for vacancies and then them being of the quality that is good enough to work at Passmore."

"It is particularly difficult to find staff in areas such as mathematics, science and computing."

He added: "I am lucky to have access to the Department for Education."

Family seek answers to ex-metal worker's death

Quest to find if cancer was caused by exposure to asbestos

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE family of a Harlow man who died from a type of cancer commonly associated with exposure to asbestos are hoping former workmates may be able to shed light on how his illness developed.

Ex-sheet metal worker John Bright passed away in November at the age of 68, 15 months after being diagnosed with mesothelioma.

According to Cancer Research UK, many cases have been caused by exposure to asbestos at work.

Shortly before his death, Mr Bright and his family instructed law firm Irwin Mitchell to investigate how his illness developed and, if asbestos was the cause, whether more should have been done to protect him.

Before he died, Mr Bright had said he believed his work fitting air conditioning and air vent ducting may have brought him into contact with deadly material.

Mr Bright worked at W.J. Collins, trading as New Ducts Ltd of Bishop's Stortford, between 1963 and 1994. As part of their investigations, the law firm is now trying to trace anyone who worked with him.

Mr Bright's wife Joyce, 68, said: "He remembered feeding ducting through holes he had cut in corrugated factory roofing which he believed was manufactured with asbestos."

MISSED: John Bright

"He also recalled working on old buildings with asbestos cladding."

"The nature of his work meant there was also a lot of dust around him."

"It was devastating to see how mesothelioma affected John and it left him unable to do even the most basic day-to-day tasks."

"We miss him every day and while nothing will bring him back we just want to know whether more should have been done to protect him from the risks of asbestos exposure and gain justice on his behalf."

Phoebe Osborne, a legal expert at

Irwin Mitchell's office in Cambridge, said: "This case is another terrible reminder of the devastating consequences that asbestos exposure can have on those affected and their families, often many years after the initial contact with the material."

"Following John's death, his family have maintained their determination to gain answers regarding just how he came to be affected by mesothelioma and we would urge anyone with information on the working conditions he would have faced to come forward."

"Even the smallest detail could be a major step forward in helping them get the justice they deserve."

■ Former colleagues who worked with Mr Bright are asked to call Ms Osborne on 0117 926 1549 or email phoebe.osborne@irwinmitchell.com.

Teen short of £75 for sponsored haircut

A TEENAGER who is planning a sponsored haircut in aid of two cancer charities is close to reaching her £300 target.

Leanne Hooper will donate the money to Macmillan Cancer Support and give her hair to the Little Princess Trust, a charity which makes wigs for children being treated for the disease.

However, the Harlow College student is currently stuck on £225 and has appealed to Star readers to help her hit her target.

"My hair is currently below my shoulders and I am going to have 10 inches cut when I reach the goal," said Leanne, 16, of Fennells.

"I am quite nervous

PLEA: Leanne Hooper is supporting two cancer charities by having 10 inches cut from her hair about it but so many people in my family have had cancer that I want to do it for them."

"My granddad had terminal cancer and I was his carer when he was ill."

Leanne said either her mother or grandmother, who are both trained hairdressers, would cut her locks but not until she reaches her target.

"Raising £300 is the minimum I wanted to do," she added. "It would mean so much to me to raise that much as I was very close to my granddad and Macmillan helped a lot."

Woman arrested after 69-year-old fractured hip in robbery attempt

DETECTIVES investigating an attempted robbery in Harlow in which an elderly woman suffered a broken hip have renewed their appeal for witnesses.

The 69-year-old victim was walking along a cycle path behind Arkwrights when she was approached from behind by her assailant who made a grab for her handbag.

She was then pushed to the ground, resulting in her sustaining a fractured hip.

This week police said a 27-year-old woman from Harlow has been arrested on suspicion of robbery and released on bail until April 26 while their investigation continues.

The incident took place at 2.25pm on Monday, March 21.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC Richard Canning at Harlow CID on 101 number or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Prentice Place set to get £4 million regeneration

Work expected to start by end of year and finish in 2019

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

AFTER a 10-year wait Prentice Place will finally be renovated after Harlow Council passed a £4 million improvement plan.

The Potter Street retail development, which includes Osler House GP surgery and a courtyard surrounded by shops and garages, was earmarked for regeneration in 2006.

Under the plans the shop units, which include a newsagent, pharmacy, hairdresser, baker, supermarket and post office, will be refurbished but not demolished.

Above the shops, 13 two-bedroom apartments which are currently unoccupied, will be renovated, with some becoming council flats and others affordable housing.

Prentice Place shoppers had mixed views as to what the changes could mean. Potter Street resident Steve Parsons, 62, said: "I don't know what can be done to modernise it."

Laziness

"People blame the council but many of the problems, like littering, are just because of people's laziness."

Harold Gane, who also lives in Potter Street, said: "They could do something to improve the look of the place. But I do like it as it is and there are a number of good shops here."

From the £3.99 million investment the council stands to make a £600,000 profit in 40 years' time through rent of the flats, garages and shop units.

Osler House practice is owned by Harlow Health Centres Trust and the two parties are hoping to strike an agreement that will see the outside of the surgery brought in line with the other shop units.

The health centres trust will fund refurbishments inside with the council footing the bill for exterior works. Improvements will also be made to

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION: Harlow Council's projection of how Prentice Place could look

PRESENT: Prentice Place shop units the car park to help make the shopping centre more accessible under the proposals.

Pam Trott, from Fullers Mead, said: "It is criminal that it has been going on for so long and traders don't know if they are coming or going."

"It is good the council have finally got their foot on the pedal."

At a council cabinet meeting last Thursday, councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, put forward their final proposals.

Works are expected to start at the end of this year and be complete by 2019.

Cllr Durcan said: "Regeneration plans have never got this far before and no-one has ever put money on the table. Lots of things can go against us but we have taken a major step forward, and we are into the final phase of development."

Business owners in Prentice Place have not yet been told about the proposals but Cllr Durcan clarified that a series of meetings and talks will follow to finalise plans.

"We will continue to be the landlords and will change the frontage of the shops - we will be talking with shop owners over the coming weeks," he said.

"Residents are not getting all the possible services from this unit as the flats have been empty there for five years and we want to bring these into use."

"It is possible to change the functions of these properties to make them multi-use, for example merging the post office with the newsagent which we have done in other parts of the town."

"Businesses are talking about footfall and that people are not stopping to use the shops because it is difficult to park there so we will address that."

The council made the decision from a shortlist of options for how to best renovate the shops taking the GP surgery, budgets and timescale into account.

What you say...

Sean Rowe, 59, of Potters Field, said: "I would like to see change but it has been on the cards for a long time and the new plans sound similar to what we have now."

Margaret Tyler, 81, of Carters Mead, said: "It is depressing, there is nothing to come here for any more and I think it does need change."

Andy Wilkinson, 32, of Faggetts Lane, Matching Tye, said: "It would not really bother me too much as I come here every day and just get a few things from the shops."

Gaby Macleary, 22, who works for Charlie's Unisex Salon in Prentice Place, said: "I do not know the plans and I would not be in favour if it would mean knocking it down but I would like to see change."

Head fears ten per cent loss of teachers under £35k rule

cation though (Harlow MP) Robert Halfon being able to make contact with Nicky Morgan, the Secretary of State for Education. I know the secretary of state can see the potential damage and will be trying to get away to avoid this."

Murray Sackwild, secretary of the Harlow and Epping branch of the National Union of Teachers, said: "The union is absolutely opposed to the idea of skilled teachers from overseas being forced out of jobs and out of the country."

"Not only is there an ever growing teacher shortage, already but the skills and knowledge that many of these teachers bring enhances the diverse education offered to young people in Harlow."

"Rather than forcing unwanted, faceless, multi academy trusts on us, the Government needs to be listening to teachers and seeking to retain good teachers in our schools."

No, we don't need the EU

SIR Where to begin with Stan Newens' letter in the Star about membership of the European Union? ("Leaving EU is senseless", March 31).

He seems to think the British lived without law before we joined the EU and were incapable of legislation.

Well, our legislation on working conditions somewhat predates the EU's existence. He could start with the 1802 Factory Act, although it goes back further.

Then there's the 1843 Ten-Hour Day Act or the 1844 Factory Act (maximum working day for adults of 12 hours would be of interest). The list goes on and on, as does our legislation protecting the environment.

Where were members of the EU during the passing of the Clean Air Act in 1956?

As for keeping the peace in Europe, that was down to NATO and not the EU. Readers will recall NATO had to intervene in Kosovo because the EU did not have the capacity or will to do so.

No, Mr Newens, we don't need the EU for Britain to be a progressive and modern state. In fact, as it is stuck in a mid-20th century political mindset, it is an obstruction.

Chilling revelation

SIR It is not often I can describe an advertisement as refreshing but I must confess that in last week's Star one advert really hit the spot.

There was no special offer, no 'sale ending soon' promotion. Love them or hate them, you must give credit to UKIP Harlow for their commitment with regard to the EU referendum.

I confess I find it quite tiresome to hear the usual blathering of Britain's renegotiating of trade deals as being the all-important issue regarding Brexit.

What UKIP's local branch offered us was a chilling revelation of how those bureaucrats in Brussels (and

READER'S PHOTO

■ Keen amateur photographer Martin Sampson, of Nettleswell Tower, Harlow, was up early to take this picture of St Mary's Church at Great Parndon. "This image of the church and graveyard was taken a few years ago at about 4.45am," he writes. "It was partially lit by my car headlights and looked so spooky I had to photograph it. I had to place the camera on my car roof and use auto self timer as it required a long 25-second exposure with flash to light the tree branches. I also had to time it perfectly as the sun was rising quickly and it took about 15 or so attempts to get the exposure right."

Market forces drive demand

SIR A few days ago the Government was telling us that if we left the EU, holidays abroad would be far more expensive. It was a call echoed by the budget and low-cost airlines.

Those of us on the leave side said such claims were nothing more than scaremongering.

We now discover that the usual holiday resorts in France, Germany and so on are being shunned by holidaymakers because of anticipated trouble from the vast numbers of refugees and immigrants in those nations, particularly on the beaches. As a result we are choosing holidays in lesser known places around Europe instead.

And guess what? These places are actually cheaper and the airlines are flying holidaymakers there.

As we who want the return of our freedom and democracy by leaving the EU have said all along, it is market forces and demand which would drive the holiday firms, not the other way around.

Charges put lives at risk

SIR Last Friday prescription charges in England increased from £8.20 to £8.40.

A 20p increase may not seem much but the reality is that people with asthma tell us they've had to choose between paying for their prescriptions and paying for food, fuel and household bills.

Any barrier to life-saving medication has the potential to put the lives of millions of people with asthma at risk. People with asthma shouldn't be forced to pay for prescriptions they need.

We are continuing with our campaign to put an end to prescription charges for everyone with a long-term condition as part of the Prescription Charges Coalition.

Until prescription charges are ended, we want the Government to raise awareness of schemes such as Prescription Prepayment Certificates. PPCs are effectively prescription season tickets which save money for patients who are regularly prescribed a number of prescription items.

If you would like further information on PPCs, please call our expert asthma nurse Helpline on 0300 222 5800 and sign up to our free email newsletter at www.asthma.org.uk to hear how you can take action and keep up to date on this and other Asthma UK campaigns.

Wrong time for pond work

SIR Near where I live at Lodge Hall in Harlow is a small pond which, as far as I am aware, has had no official maintenance for more than 20 years.

Now, at a time when birds are nesting, frogs are spawning (their numbers have declined alarmingly) and nature and wildlife is regenerating, the council has sent in a team to carry out work.

They have hacked away the shrubbery disturbing nesting sites for birds, dredged the pond driving frogs and their spawn away and driven heavy machinery over very wet ground, ploughing it into an eyesore.

In other areas of the town shrub beds have been left overgrown with the needs of wildlife cited as a reason.

Why the rise in fuel price?

SIR Having travelled around Harlow over the past couple of weeks, I wonder if anyone else has noticed that fuel prices have risen by approximately 4p per litre.

I don't remember reading or hearing that the price of crude oil has risen, so could it be that local petrol stations are profiting from a self-imposed price rise?

WORKING HARD FOR HARLOW

👍 Freezing fuel duty - for the 6th year in a row it will be frozen saving the average driver £75 a year and the average white van driver £270 a year.

👍 Lower taxes for lower earners - the tax-free allowance will be rising to £11,500 saving the average taxpayer £1000 a year.

👍 Helping the vulnerable - £50 billion to be spent on support for the disabled and £115 million committed to tackling homelessness and getting rough sleepers off the streets.

👍 Supporting businesses - business rates tax will be cut, taking 600,000 small businesses out of paying business rates entirely and benefiting hundreds of Harlow families.

Labour leader praises party's record in Harlow

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

LABOUR leader Jeremy Corbyn kicked off his party's local elections campaign during a visit to Harlow on Tuesday.

While the attention of the national press centred on Mr Corbyn's reaction to the Panama Papers tax scandal, he told an audience of party supporters at Moot House, in The Stow, that only Labour would stand up for voters.

"We are campaigning all over the country and we have aspiration to get Labour elected all over," he said.

"Across the country it is Labour councils that are standing up. Here in Harlow more than £1m has been invested in town centre regeneration.

"Labour councils are also building council housing for families but they need to be allowed to do so on a much greater scale."

Majority

Labour currently holds 19 of the 33 seats on Harlow Council but its majority will be put to the test when 11 seats are up for grabs in the local government elections on Thursday, May 5.

Mr Corbyn said he chose to launch the campaign in Harlow because the council had recently embarked on its first council housebuilding programme in 25 years. He added that services in the town such as the NHS were also under pressure, as they were across the country.

He also praised the council for its role in getting the town's street lights turned back on overnight, a move which he said demonstrated how local authorities can make a difference to residents' lives despite Government cuts.

"Being elected is hard work but Harlow Council has managed to invest in services and the town centre," said Mr Corbyn. "Electing a Labour council is the best protection for your community against the onslaught from this Conservative government."

"Even in the toughest of times it is Labour councils that are making better choices."

He added: "The Government is making the wrong choices and has the wrong priorities. In the last Parliament they cut more than £4bn from adult social care, the budget to look after elderly people in their homes. Yet it found billions to give huge tax breaks to big corporations and the highest earners."

Mr Corbyn used his speech to attack the Government over its proposals to turn all schools into academies, health care and the crisis facing the British steel industry following the news that Tata is planning to sell all its plants in Britain.

On the subject of the Panama Papers, he said: "The Government needs to stop pussyfooting around on tax dodging. There cannot be one set of tax rules for the wealthy elite and another for the rest of us. This unfairness and abuse must stop. No more lip service, the richest must pay their way."

Afterwards, Mr Corbyn visited the homes of party supporters in the town.

One of them, Bridget McAlpine, of Vicarage Wood, said: "I went to meet him at Moot House and it was very interesting. He is a very good speaker and covered a broad range of issues."

"My niece, Laura, is a massive supporter and she came to my house when he came to the door. We had quite a nice talk but we didn't go into politics or anything too heavy."

"He was quite inspiring in what he said and was very measured but that's what you would expect from an experienced politician. I felt he really knew what he was talking about."

In brief

Attack victim hit with bottle

HARLOW: A man sustained serious injuries to his neck and arm after being struck with a bottle outside Bar 21 in Post Office Walk.

The 22-year-old victim, who was assaulted in the early hours of Friday, was taken to Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford.

Police said they were looking for three suspects, all described as white men, and have appealed for anyone with information to call PC Gemma Bristow at Harlow CID on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Crash woman dies in hospital

HARLOW: A woman injured in a two-vehicle accident on the M25 near Harlow has died in hospital.

The crash, which happened between junctions 26 and 27 of the motorway in the early hours of last Tuesday, involved a heavy goods vehicle and a Nissan Note car.

A 34-year-old woman, from Leicestershire, was taken to The Royal London Hospital where she died on Saturday. A 61-year-old man from Telford who was arrested at the scene of the accident has been released on police bail until June 27.

Jamie's jumping at the chance to run the Gauntlet

AN air ambulance volunteer from Harlow will be running a gauntlet of gladiators when she takes part in a fundraising obstacle course.

Jamie Smithers has signed up for the Hertfordshire Gauntlet Games, a fun race run over a distance of either over 5km or 10km. It is being held at Easneye Estate near Ware next Sunday (April 16).

Jamie, who has been a volunteer with the Essex and Herts Air Ambulance for the past couple of years, said: "I took part in the Gauntlet Games last year so when it was announced the air ambulance was this year's chosen charity I jumped at the chance to do it all again."

JAMIE SMITHERS

Competitors must run through a series of zones manned by gladiators, dodge paint guns and overcome obstacles including beams spanning muddy bogs.

Jamie added: "The games are so accessible to all fitness abilities. For anyone looking for something fun and quirky to do with their mates or who feel like setting themselves a challenge, I would highly recommend they join the air ambulance team and come tackle the gladiators."

■ To register to take part, visit thegauntletgames.co.uk or call (0345) 504 0055.

Magnificent milestone for air ambulance trust

FUNDRAISING for the Essex & Herts Air Ambulance Trust has reached new heights after donations from across the two counties have helped the charity to purchase its own helicopter for the first time in its 20-year history.

Rob Forsyth, chairman of the EHAAT trustees, signed the contract for the £6m Augusta Westland AW169 with aircraft operator Medical Aviation Services last week.

In addition, a 10-year contract to lease an MD902 Explorer was also approved.

The trust will take possession of both aircraft early next year and they will be ready to fly in June when the leases on its current aircraft come to an end.

The purchase was also made possible after the charity made a successful bid for £1.5m from the Government's Labor fund.

The AW169 will be the most advanced aircraft flying within the East of England region's air ambulance services.

Mr Forsyth said: "We simply couldn't have reached this magnificent milestone were it not for the tremendous support we receive from the people and businesses of Essex and Hertfordshire."

BIG BANG: The explosion in the field at North Weald was heard almost a mile away

Danger UXB! Anti-tank rockets dumped by road

Army bomb disposal team called to deal with explosive discovery

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

AN Army bomb disposal team was called to Epping after six Second World War anti-tank rockets were dumped behind a bus stop.

The live munitions, which were used to destroy heavily armoured military vehicles, were discovered by a member of the public out walking their dog in Coopersale shortly before 5pm last Tuesday.

They were taken to a farm in Duck Lane, North Weald, where they were destroyed in a controlled explosion carried out by the Army Explosives Ordnance Disposal Unit.

Farmer William Aldis, 36, said "My mother and I were sitting in the kitchen having a chat about farm business when a policeman turned up. I was thinking 'oh no what's gone on?'"

"He said 'Can we borrow your field?' and I asked him why. He said 'We would like to make a small hole in your field and blow something up'."

Mr Aldis allowed them to carry out the explosion in an unused field bordering the M11.

"They cleared a 100-metre cordon around it and blew a massive great hole in our field," he said. "It's totally out of the ordinary but was quite good fun and made a really big bang."

"My next-door neighbour has a farm around three-quarters-of-a-mile away and said he was sitting in his hot tub in his garden when the bang went off."

"He said it went off so loud in the village. I've heard other people in the village heard it more than a mile away."

Destroy

He continued: "I think they thought only one or two of the bombs were live and they put in more explosives than they probably needed to destroy them."

"The bomb disposal guy said he reckoned all six were still live as he wasn't expecting such a big bang. It was quite fun, a bit more exciting than a wet and boring Tuesday evening."

Detectives are now trying to find who was responsible for dumping the rockets to find out whether they have any more.

■ Anyone with information is asked to contact Essex Police on the non-emergency 101 number.

CRATER: The explosion left a large hole in the field

Help charity by holding a talking tea party

HARLOW: A charity which supports people with mental health issues is looking for volunteers to host a talking tea party at home or work to support Mental Health Awareness Week (May 16-22).

The West Essex branch of Mind will be holding its own Alice in Wonderland-style gathering at its Bush Fair offices from 11am-1pm on Tuesday, May 10.

Party guests are encouraged to make a donation towards the costs of the charity's work.

"Talking is key to wellbeing and there's nothing like a good cup of tea and a chat to show you care about how someone is feeling," said a spokeswoman. "In the busy world we live in, it's easy to walk on by rather than say 'how are you?' We believe that with support, everyone has the ability to take steps that will improve their emotional wellbeing."

For a free tea party pack, email your name, address, contact number and party date to lcampbell@mindinwestessex.org.uk or call 01371 876641.

Couple's big band dance night in aid of hospice

HARLOW: A couple who have raised thousands of pounds for St Clare Hospice over the years are preparing for their next event.

David and Jean Roberts have organised a big band dance featuring Tod Miller and the Joe Loss Orchestra which will be held at The Spotlight (formerly Broxbourne Civic Hall) on Saturday, April 16.

Tickets cost £16. For more information call community fundraiser Dani De'ath on (01279) 773738.

Celebration day for a very special lady

Family join 100-year-old Charlotte for birthday treat

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BIRTHDAY celebrations for a great grandmother were a real family affair when she became the latest member of Harlow's 100 club.

Charlotte Glanfield, who was born on March 26, 1916, was the toast of family and friends at a party held to mark her landmark anniversary.

Mrs Glanfield was joined by three generations of relatives for the special day at Alexandra House care home, in Hamstel Road, where she now lives.

Her son David, 74, of The Stow, said: "We had a party on the day and most of our family were there."

"She was pleased to reach 100 and very happy to receive a card from The Queen."

Mrs Glanfield moved to Harlow with her husband George from Morden in south London in 1954 and were among the first residents to live in The Downs. They later moved to Tany's Dell.

"My parents became some of the first residents of the New Town when my dad got a job as a machine minder for the printing company Shenval Press," said David.

"My mum worked in the grocers shop at The Stow for many years. She was also a member of the Methodist Church in The Stow."

"Quite a few people will remember her

as she was well known in the local community."

Mrs Glanfield has three granddaughters and eight great grandchildren. Sadly her husband passed away 30 years ago.

David said she enjoyed her birthday celebration. "The staff at Alexandra House organised the evening for us and did an extremely good job, we were very pleased," he said.

Candlelit vigil to remember victim of park tragedy

A CANDLELIT vigil will be held for a seven-year-old girl who was fatally injured when a bouncy castle blew away in Harlow Town Park.

Summer Grant, who was from Norwich, died following the incident on Saturday, March 26.

Her family said the messages of support they received had been overwhelming and thanked the public for donations. Two fundraising websites have raised almost £9,000 to help support the family.

On Saturday, a two-minute silence will be held at the gates of Harlow Town Park off Fifth Avenue, where Summer was injured, and her favourite song will be played.

An indoor event is also taking place between 1pm and 5pm at the Harvey Centre to raise money for a bench and plaque in Summer's memory.

There will be a raffle, face painting and other stalls.

It is believed a strong gust of wind swept the dome-shaped inflatable Summer was playing on 150m (492ft) across the park, on March 26.

Paramedics were called but Summer later died in hospital after suffering multiple injuries.

Two people, a 24-year-old woman and a man, 27, were later arrested on suspicion of manslaughter by gross negligence and bailed until May.

Scores of teddy bears and flowers in Summer's memory have been placed at the gates of the park.

The vigil will take place on Saturday from 8pm.

Summer's father Lee Grant said: "She was the most happy, polite and beautiful girl in the world. I still can't come to terms she's not here. We all love you so much, you will always be with us."

In brief

Budget underspend

HARLOW: Harlow Council underspent on its 2015-16 budget by almost three-quarters of a million pounds during the third quarter of the financial year.

Spending during the three-month period from October to December was down by £738,000 (1.07 per cent) on its estimate.

Council leader Jon Clempner told last Thursday's cabinet meeting: "This demonstrates a strong financial control and understanding. The council's performance has turned around."

New bus service

HARLOW: A new bus service running between Harlow and Epping Underground station starts on Monday (April 11).

The 418 service being operated by Trustybus will connect Harlow town centre with Old Harlow, New Hall and Church Langley and then on to Epping Tube station.

A weekly ticket allowing seven-day travel across the Trustybus network costs £15.

Sentence adjourned

SAWBRIDGEWORTH: A 64-year-old man who admitted downloading indecent images of children will be sentenced next month.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told Geoffrey Leeds, of The Four Acres had downloaded one indecent movie and one still picture, both at the highest level category A.

He also admitted downloading three still category A images, 11 at category B and 12 at category C and possessing a category C image of a child and 133 other still images of children.

He was released on bail until the sentencing hearing on May 4.

Town Park homes plan is withdrawn

More than 1,100 people sign pressure group's petition

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PLANS to build two houses in the Harlow Town Park conservation area have been withdrawn after more than 1,000 people signed a petition objecting to the proposal.

Pressure group Protect Harlow's Green Spaces and Trees led opposition to the development in Park Lane which would have resulted in the loss of 14 trees.

The planning application was seeking permission to build two semi-detached three-bedroom properties with two detached garages and retaining wall at the rear of 5 Park Lane.

However, law firm Attwaters Jameson Hill, who represent Protect Harlow's Green Spaces and Tree, confirmed on Thursday the application had been withdrawn.

The petition signed by 1,125 people, was handed in to Harlow Council by organiser John Mustafa, who said: "My thoughts are that common sense has prevailed."

"There are lots of spaces to build on so I don't see a need to build on green space. I do not oppose just because it is in my back yard but because it is in a conservation area."

According to the Harlow Local Plan 2006, Park Lane is in a protected Green Wedge and Town Park conservation area. An assessment of trees on the site said 14 were in a poor condition and would need to be removed from the site.

Petition calls on council to save 14 trees from axe

Salvatore Amico, a specialist planning lawyer with Attwaters Jameson Hill, said: "My clients are delighted. They felt that the proposed development would have undermined the local conservation area and green wedge situated close to Harlow town centre."

However, Mr Mustafa warned the application could be resubmitted in the near future, adding: "If it is we will oppose it again as it is something we feel very strongly about."

"A lot of money has been spent in developing the park and lots of people come walking down Park Lane. Building work and an increased number of cars along there could also be quite dangerous."

Posting on PHGST's Facebook page, he thanked all those who had opposed the application. "You are amazing, thank you to everyone involved," he said.

Patients warned to expect delays during walkout by junior medics

PEOPLE attending outpatient appointments at Princess Alexandra Hospital today (Thursday) are warned to expect delays as the 48-hour strike by junior doctors enters its second day.

The walkout started at 8am yesterday (Wednesday). Medics are refusing to provide non-emergency care as part of their continued dispute with the Government over a new contract.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust said outpatient clinics would be operating as normal throughout the period of industrial action but said there may be some delays.

Patients have been advised to take refreshments in case of they are held up.

PAH chief executive Phil Morley said: "We have worked hard to manage staffing rotas during the strike and even though there is very high demand in the hospital at the moment we are committed to minimising disruption for patients."

The British Medical Association is planning an all-out strike with no emergency cover later this month.

The trust is also reminding people that they should only visit A&E in the event of a serious and life-threatening injury such as a loss of consciousness or serious state of confusion, persistent severe chest pain or breathing difficulties.

Other options include calling NHS 111 to obtain medical advice when is not an emergency, visiting a GP or obtaining information from a pharmacist.

Prosecution drops impersonation case

A MAN accused of impersonating a police officer walked free from court after the charge against him was dropped.

The trial of Steven Clark, 19, who had given two addresses in Harlow at Fern Hill Lane and Brockles Mead, was due to start at Chelmsford Magistrates Court last Thursday.

But the case was dismissed after Crown Prosecution Service lawyer Alice Owen offered no evidence.

Clark had earlier pleaded not guilty to impersonating a special constable or a member of a police force with intent to deceive between February 5 and 6 this year.

However, he was given a conditional discharge for 12 months and ordered to pay £100 court costs after pleading guilty to possessing cannabis which was found in his vehicle at the time of his arrest.

Airport drivers face a £50 'drop-off' penalty

DRIVERS who spend more than 10 minutes in the express drop-off area at Stansted Airport will now be charged an extra £50.

The minimum charge of £2.50 for 10 minutes has been increased to £3 and anyone caught staying over the 10-minute limit will have to pay the additional penalty fee.

Airport bosses say it will reduce congestion in the zone which is classed as a premium service.

"The area is not for drivers picking up passengers, it is for set down only so all users should safely exit the area within the 10-minute period," said a spokesman.

"For passengers wishing to stay longer than 10 minutes or to pick up passengers, we advise they use the short stay car park."

Reporting crime online after counter closures

VICTIMS of crime are being encouraged to report it online following the closure of front counters at six police stations across Essex.

The public are no longer able to report crimes in person at Epping, Loughton, Brentwood, South Ockendon, Rayleigh and Canvey stations.

Assistant Chief Constable Maurice Mason said the closures will have no effect on police patrols and the force's ability to respond to calls for help.

"I want to reassure people living in these [six] towns that our commitment to keep them safe remains our absolute priority," he added.

Fundraisers turn inches into pounds

Slimmers raise £3,000 with charity health kick

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES:
The slimmers who together lost over 116 inches

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FUNDRAISERS lost more than 160 inches and raised more than £3,000 during St Clare Hospice's inaugural You Lose, We Gain challenge.

The nine-week fitness fundraiser launched in January when a group of more than 20 determined slimmers signed up to shed their excess weight in return for sponsorship.

The participants were supported during the course of the challenge by body experts from Harlow-based NX Professionals, who provided specialist healthy eating and exercise advice.

When the final weigh-in took place the combined total weight loss was calculated to be 15 stone 8lbs.

The two biggest losers were Craig Reynolds who shed the most weight, shedding two stone, and Nicola Bargin, who lost the most inches, dropping a remarkable 21 inches.

Among the group were 10 members of St Clare Hospice staff, including finance manager Steve Truman who was the hospice's biggest loser by shedding 25 lbs.

He said: "Working in finance at St Clare, I am usually the last person wanting to lose pounds round here but over the past two months I've been racing to shed them."

"I know how important it is that we raise £3.7m every year so that we can keep delivering amazing care to local families in need.

"I've lost nearly two stone now and I'm the fittest I've been since my twenties." Caroline Collins, from NX Professionals, said: "We were thrilled to work with the St Clare team on the You Lose, We Gain challenge."

"As fitness and nutrition professionals we are extremely happy with the amazing results and it's been a pleasure watching the team over the past nine weeks."

"We feel we have re-educated the group on fitness and helped to change their lifestyles whilst building a great relationship with St Clare Hospice."

Thousands of smoke alarms fitted in homes by fire service

THOUSANDS of homes were fitted with smoke and carbon monoxide alarms last year as part of a programme of safety work carried out by Essex County Fire and Rescue Service.

Smoke alarms were fitted in almost 9,000 homes across the county as part of the service's Home Safety Visit scheme.

In addition, 4,500 smoke alarms and 1,400 carbon monoxide detectors were supplied to landlords to be fitted to rented properties.

Over the past 10 years the number of incidents attended by fire crews has halved as prevention and protection work has made people more fire aware and homes and business throughout the county safer than ever.

A consultation currently being undertaken by the service is preparing for a future which will see an increased focus on prevention and protection work as call outs diminish.

Consultation

The consultation, which runs until April 25, will help set the future shape and role of the service in the future.

It sets out three options for change to prepare the service for a future with reductions in incidents, an increased focus on prevention and a commitment to become financially sustainable as reductions in funding continue every year to 2020.

All of the options have a number of common factors including £3m of extra investment in prevention and protection, additional savings of over £2m from support functions and no fire station closures.

Other proposals include ensuring that every home in Essex has a working smoke alarm and plans to visit every Essex school child in years three, seven and eighth teaching the next generation to be safer.

Since it launched on February 1 more than 2,800 people have taken part in the consultation.

Senior divisional officer Paul Bowers said: "We already carry out a huge amount of prevention and protection work."

"This consultation will help us strike a balance between prevention and response allowing us to reduce risk, prevent injury and save lives."

■ To take part in the consultation by completing an online questionnaire, visit www.essex-fire.gov.uk/interactive.

Halfon welcomes introduction of Living Wage

THE introduction of the National Living Wage has been hailed by Harlow MP Robert Halfon as a "deserved pay rise" for the town's low-paid workers.

Workers aged 25 and over who are not in the first year of an apprenticeship are now legally entitled to be paid at least £7.20 an hour.

That equates to a £20 a week pay rise for a full time worker compared to the National Minimum Wage.

"Harlow deserves a pay rise and I'm very proud to be part of a Conservative Party that is delivering the higher-wage, lower-tax, lower-welfare economy we all want to see," said Mr Halfon.

"There are now more people in work than ever before, with 31.4 million people in employment. The National Living Wage will give more families in Harlow the security of a decent, regular pay."

More than one million people across the country are expected to benefit directly from the change.

The National Living Wage is set to rise to £9 an hour by 2020.

INSPIRED: Harlow MP Robert Halfon with students from Sir Charles Kao University Technical College

Future Founders pitch plans for town at Google base

STUDENTS from Harlow's university technical college presented their visions for transforming Harlow to a group of entrepreneurs during a visit to Google's Campus London.

The students were accompanied by town MP Robert Halfon, who arranged for them to be among the first in the country to take part in Google's Future Founders programme, which aims to inspire and equip the next generation of social entrepreneurs.

They were divided into two teams and given the task of coming up with social enterprise business ideas for Harlow which they then pitched to representatives of Google and Unltd, a social entrepreneur investment company.

To help shape their ideas students considered what they liked about the town and what they would like to see change. After identifying a lack of social opportunity for young people, they set about creating ways of tackling the problem while making best use of Harlow's facilities.

UTC assistant principal Patrick Tshala said: "The opportunity this has given to our students is amazing. "They were encouraged to use their imagination to find innovative new ways of doing things.

"They will be able to apply the practical skills they have been taught to help their communities and future careers."

Mr Halfon added: "The UTC is all about technology, engineering and vocational education and Google Campus is a great example of what the future can hold for the students."

CEREMONY: Representatives from the college and Willmott Dixon at the site

A GROUNDBREAKING ceremony has been held on the site of a new multi-million pound advanced manufacturing and engineering centre at Harlow College.

The AMEC facilities, which are due to open in December, will equip young people with skills in three key areas – advanced manufacturing, aeronautical engineering and operations and maintenance engineering.

Enterprise

The £8.5m centre is being jointly funded by the college, Essex County Council and the South East Local Enterprise partnership. Local employers have been involved in the design of the building and curriculum.

Work on designing the centre began in July last year, and it is being built by construction firm Willmott Dixon.

Senior building manager Kevin

Balding said: "Work is progressing well. We're digging the excavations for the foundations now and by early May the first steel structures will be going up."

College principal Karen Spencer said she was "very excited" about the new centre, and added: "We know that Essex needs to recruit 13,500 engineers to meet current and emerging demands."

Will Allanson, the college's executive director for business development, said: "Once open, the centre will enable budding young engineers to develop their skills in superb surroundings that will be equipped with the latest technology."

Little Dahl-ings have fun dressing up as characters

WILLY Wonka, Fantastic Mr Fox and Miss Trunchbull were among the characters brought to life when a Harlow school celebrated the life and works of author Roald Dahl.

Children at Fawbert and Barnard's Primary, in London Road, dressed up as their favourite creations of the late author, who would have been 100 this year.

Pupils drew inspiration from classic novels such as James and The Giant Peach, The Twits, Charlie And The Chocolate Factory and Matilda.

The event was staged on World Book Day.

THE number of some species of small birds visiting our gardens is on the increase, according to the results of a new survey.

More than 500,000 people took part in the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds' annual Big Garden Birdwatch. Members of the public were asked to spend an hour counting the birds in their gardens and local parks during the last weekend of January.

The most frequently seen bird was the house sparrow, followed by the starling and blue tit. The sparrow also topped the list of birds spotted in gardens here in Essex.

The results showed that while the numbers of some species such as the long tailed tit, coal tit and great tit are on the increase, the population of others including chaffinches, greenfinches and blackbirds are in decline.

RSPB wildlife advisor Ben Andrew said: "A lot of our favourite garden birds are struggling and in need of our help. "Gardens or outdoor spaces are an invaluable resource for many species. They can provide a safe habitat and enough food and water to survive, which is likely to have a significant effect on their populations."

More than 90,000 schoolchildren also took part in the RSPB's Big Schools Birdwatch, which showed that the blackbird remained our most common playground visitor.

Currently we have a vet's clinic on Tuesdays from 2pm-3.30pm and on Thursdays and Fridays from 10am-12.30pm. We will also be offering vaccination and have in stock quantities of AndvantiX, the product that has been recommended following the current tick outbreak in Harlow.

Please contact our clinic on (01279) 306058 for more details.

■ AT this time of year we always get lots of people asking what to do if they find baby birds. The answer is to leave them alone.

If you find a young bird out of its nest it is probably a fledgling. Young garden birds usually leave the nest about two weeks after hatching, just before they can fly. They will have grown all or most of their feathers, are very mobile and can walk, run and hop onto low branches.

Fledglings are fed by their parents who are rarely far away and are probably collecting food. However, they will not return to the fledglings until you have gone.

The start of spring also signals "kitten season". Please get your cats neutered; we offer vouchers from our clinic for only £10.

Tests confirm ticks in field do carry fatal dog parasite

TESTS have confirmed that ticks found in a Harlow field do carry the Babesia canis parasite which can be potentially fatal to dogs.

Investigations were carried out after four dogs which had been in the grassed area off Third Avenue displayed symptoms of Babesiosis.

Teams from the Animal and Plant Health Agency and Public Health England carried out a search of the area and took away a number of tick specimens for testing. Fourteen were found to carry the micro-organism which causes the disease.

Harlow Council has already erected fencing around the area to prevent dog walkers from using it.

Canine babesiosis does not affect humans and the ticks concerned are extremely rare in this country. It is thought this is the first time that Babesia has been found in the tick in the UK.

Abnormal loads to cause delays at river crossing

DRIVERS are being advised to plan their journeys in order to avoid a series of slow-moving, abnormal loads which will be using the Dartford Crossing on the M25 at weekends.

Nine transformers are being moved from Littlebrook Power Station to Thamesport on the Isle of Grain in Kent.

The loads will be moved on Saturday (April 9) as well as Sunday April 17, Saturday May 7, Sunday May 15 and Sunday May 22.

Traffic will be temporarily stopped for up to 30 minutes while the loads are moving over the crossing. The loads are expected to be crossing at about 9pm depending on traffic conditions.

Drama in storage

YOU might never look at your 80s washed denim and 90s Radiohead albums in the same way again after seeing Handle with Care.

The latest play from theatre company Dante or Die follows protagonist Zoe and her possessions through time on location at a storage centre.

Harlow Lok'n Store (you read that right) will host the production from May 13 to May 15 as part of Harlow Playhouse Pay What You Can season.

"We meet her (Zoe) when she is 18 and is pretty care free," explained co-writer and Dante or Die co-founder Terry O'Donovan.

"She is with her brother and is asking him why he is keeping all this stuff in storage. We follow her through 25 years of her life so we see her wedding dress, some moments with her children as babies and there is a scene with her daughter when she is older.

"The audience will arrive at Lok'n Store and meet at the reception. They will be guided round by following the actress, getting up close and personal with everything. You see her get changed into the different fashions as we move from the 1980s to the 1990s. There are also different songs for each era playing with the Stone Roses moving into Supergrass and Alanis Morissette."

"There are two actresses playing Zoe, an older one and a younger one, and they swap half way through when she has children. It looks at how you become an older person when you have kids."

The younger Zoe will be played by Amy Dolan and her older double will be Rachael Spence.

The unique staging of the play means only 20 people can watch it at one time. There will be four performances on each day. The play lasts for 90 minutes with the two Zoes swapping halfway.

Groups start making their way around the centre every 45 minutes, giving both actresses a tight schedule to run back to their starting point and begin again.

Does Terry fear the actresses may not make it in time?

"There's always a danger with this kind of play," he laughed.

"We joke that we make logistical theatre. We have to be very organised to make sure we manage it. We have lots of prompts to know when we have to go back and forth.

"We are finishing in London in June, it is very exciting and we have lots and lots going on. We have a fantastic cast and it's just about to go into final rehearsals."

Terry said there had been the odd "oh my God moment" when thinking the play was now so soon but he said they are feeling ready and raring to do.

"We had a preview run last October and since then we have been re-writing the script. As the time comes we are beginning to wonder what we have got ourselves in for. It has been an idea for about two years and we are looking forward to finally doing it. It all takes so long."

He added: "People were moved by it in the October previews. As far as we know this (style of play) is something that has never been done before. It is nice to do something different.

"There will be seven of us in the cast. Everywhere we go we have a local young girl playing the teenage daughter of Zoe. It's great to have that in the local production."

The name of the actress has yet to be announced – but Dante or Die has been in touch the Harlow's Pauline Quirke Academy to recruit a young star.

Handle with Care may be a logistical nightmare to perform but it creates flowing, gripping entertainment and helps to redefine the boundaries of theatre.

Terry believes such a play has never been performed before. He wrote it alongside Dante or Die members Chloe Moss and director Daphna Attias who first came up with the idea – in a storage unit of course!

"Daphna was putting some things into storage and starting talking to the guy that worked there about why people use them," said Terry about where the idea started.

"He said a lot of people have to use them when they have split up or are going through changes in their lives which sparked her imagination.

"Stuff has a different meaning to us at different times of our life. It seemed really right for a contemporary story. We share different parts of Zoe's life through the objects. All of the objects become meaningful. It is funny how items mean so much to one person."

Who would have thought that Rubik's Cubes, space hoppers and Walkmans could provoke such a touching response?

Terry plays a Lok'n Store employee who is omnipresent throughout the play – and is the only consistency as the narrative moves forward in time.

"My character never ages. We realised there is a lot of humanity behind these places that can seem impersonal. These people really get to know their customers.

"We got in touch with them (Lok'n Store) via a theatre where one of their board members is actually the company's chief executive. It has been an amazing experience for us and for them.

"We are hoping that by holding a performance in a less obvious place – people who do not usually come to the theatre may be attracted to come."

Handle with Care will be performed at the Lok'n Store in Edinburgh Way, Harlow from Friday, May 13 – Sunday May 15. Part of Pay What You Can season where donations can be made at the end of the performance. Booking is essential. Visit www.playhouseharlow.com or call 01279 431943.

Jess brings her Tourette's story to the Playhouse

JESS Thom has Tourette syndrome. For her this means she is unable to stop herself saying "biscuit" around 16,000 times a day and she could involuntarily say anything.

Although she is neurologically incapable of sticking to a script, the 35-year-old performs in a two-woman show which is coming to Harlow Playhouse later this month.

"It tells the story of my journey with Tourette's and brings to life the real situations I face," said Jess. "There is a mixture of theatre, song and comedy. As I am incapable of following a script every show is different."

"We take audiences on a surreal journey and people can expect a lot of humour."

Jess joins her namesake Jess Mabel Jones on stage for Backstage in Biscuit Land. The touring production will come to Harlow for one night only on Tuesday, April 19.

As part of Pay What You Can season, audiences can make a donation of any size after the show.

Jess said she founded her company Touretteshero in 2010 "as a creative response" to living with the condition.

"There is a lot of misunderstanding and I wanted to expel the idea of it being scary and causing any discomfort," she added.

"I want people to think more about it, and we have had fantastic responses from people who have really connected."

Tourette syndrome is estimated to affect more than 300,000 people in the UK. A key feature of the neurological condition is for people to have tics.

Vocal tics cause people with Tourette's to make uncontrollable sounds, while motor tics cause uncontrollable movements.

Jess has Coprolalia and Copropaxia which leads her to make obscene comments and gestures. But contrary to popular belief, this is a condition that only affects 10 per cent of people with Tourette's.

"There is a lack of understanding about the tics," added Jess.

"It is a disability, but only through the social model of disability. This means that people are not disabled by their impairments but through the way things are organised in the world."

Jess is a natural performer and has won rave reviews from national media.

Broadcast from Biscuit Land, an off-shoot of the stage show, has seen Jess appear on BBC4, while she has written a book called Welcome to Biscuit Land, with a forward from Stephen Fry.

This will be the Londoner's first visit to Harlow and she said she is looking forward to the performance.

"The show is scripted, but we could talk about anything. It's unpredictable and can go in strange directions."

"We are performers, so we rehearse and make plans for things we can change about the show. We want to make sure that audiences get a really positive experience."

"Every performance is relaxed so people with autism, learning difficulties and Tourette's can come along and feel comfortable. It is okay of people make noises as it does not follow the strict etiquette of conventional theatre."

Despite her success, Jess refuses to be labelled an inspiration and instead focuses on sharing the creativity and humour of Tourette's.

Through the Touretteshero website she regularly blogs and shares photos – encouraging many with the condition to interact and get involved.

She encourages dealing with the condition informally and hopes to spread awareness of what Tourette syndrome is.

"It's for people with and without Tourette's. Lots of people and their families are involved in lots of different ways."

"We put on events for young people, including a party at Tate Britain."

"I have always been a creative personality, but I haven't always been performing in this way. For many years I have worked for children's charities."

There is no telling what the performance could contain – so be prepared for strong language, but also to be thoroughly entertained.

■ Touretteshero will perform Backstage in Biscuit Land at Harlow Playhouse on Tuesday, April 19. Part of Pay What You Can season where donations can be made at the end. Bookings should be made in advance at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Civic society to welcome New Town expert

A TALK on the history of the British new town movement will be held at Harlow Museum on Thursday.

Harlow Civic Society will be welcoming guest speaker Elaine Harwood, a senior researcher and historian with Historic England (formerly English Heritage) who has spent much of her time researching the architecture and landscape of the 20th century with particular focus on the period from 1945-79.

She has been studying the history of Harlow for many years initially for the listing of some of its buildings and then later for a book entitled Space, Hope and Brutalism which was published by Yale University Press last year.

She is currently working on a book about new towns to be published by Historic England

In 2008, she was invited to unveil a plaque to Harlow masterplaster Sir Frederick Gibberd in the Water Gardens.

Her talk will look at the history of Britain's new towns from their origins in the garden cities of Letchworth and Welwyn Garden City and will then set Harlow in the context of its peers, including Stevenage, Crawley and Hemel Hempstead.

She will also discuss the future of new towns, asking whether Harlow and its more recent developments such as Newhall offer pointers for further developments to meet Britain's growing population?

■ The talk takes place at Harlow Museum, in Muskhams Road, on Thursday (April 14), starting at 7pm. Entry is £1 for Harlow Civic Society members and £2 for non-members.

FILMGUIDE

Say what you like about US actor Michael Shannon, but don't question his dedication. He's on a fleeting visit, having flown into the UK just hours before – to then leave the same afternoon – when we meet. But there's method in his madness, as the Kentucky native explains he's in fact rehearsing for his latest Broadway stint, Long Day's Journey Into Night.

"I'm starring with Jessica Lange. She did the play here in the West End 15 years ago and wanted to do it again, so we're doing it. She's my mum right now."

Shannon is somewhat intense, furrow-browed; the 41-year-old's cinematic reputation precedes him.

Since making his big screen debut in 1993's Groundhog Day, the acclaimed talent has gone on to star in more than 40 films, including Revolutionary Road opposite Kate Winslet and Leonardo DiCaprio, and Zack Snyder's Man Of Steel. But it's his sanity-tipping, pressure-cooker roles he has become synonymous for – such as Curtis in Jeff Nichols' Take Shelter.

He's quick to shut down those who pigeonhole him, however.

"Isn't the idea that you're different people in each of the movies? Sometimes I hear that I play different parts and sometimes people say, 'so you always play the same part'. It's confusing, but it's part of our culture: everybody describes everything by comparing it to something else."

From his disarmingly deadpan expression to his drawn-out answers, Shannon – dressed in a casual jeans and denim shirt combo – is hard to read, but equally fascinating.

His latest venture – his fourth film with director and friend Nichols (Shotgun Stories, Mud) – is just as ambiguous.

Midnight Special tells the story of Roy (Shannon), a father who is desperate to protect his uniquely gifted eight-year-old son Alton (Jaeden Lieberher).

Avoiding the limelight

One glance at his CV clearly shows Midnight Special's Michael Shannon isn't work-shy, but he prefers to hover under the radar when it comes to fame. He tells Gemma Dunn why to him 'everything is science-fiction'

As the pair go on the run, aided by friend Lucas (Joel Edgerton), and later the child's mother Sarah (Kirsten Dunst), an intense car chase ensues as they are hunted down by a mysterious cult and a clandestine government agency – the outcome of which could bring about a world-changing event.

"Most people have some mystery in their lives, unanswerable questions," declares Shannon. "I don't think Roy really knows what's happening with his son."

Citing eighties sci-fi classics such as Starman among the film's artistic influences, Nichols first sold the premise to Shannon as a car-chase movie – with some "stunt-type driving".

But with supernatural undertones, the duo steered into new territory for the genre-defying thriller.

Mulling over every word, Shannon exclaims: "I think everything is science-fiction."

"A lot of things that used to seem very far-fetched and 'in the future' are now in the present, and that's going to keep getting more extreme as time marches on. Things like Skype and drones used to be something you would read about in a Ray Bradbury story, and that's what gives me the heebie-jeebies."

He's just as uneasy when it comes to social media. "I'm a real Neanderthal. I don't enjoy technology much; I'm cautious about it."

"We need to be careful that we don't rely on it too much," he adds. "It creeps me out when I'm on the subway and I see everybody staring at their phones."

"Somebody made a point recently that it's like people are becoming androids, and that makes me uncomfortable."

But the father-of-two – who lives in Brooklyn with his partner of 14 years, actress Kate Arrington – realises he has to accept it will be a part of his daughters' upbringing.

"I try and instil a sense in them that..." he begins pensively. "Look, you can't block that out of their lives completely, but at the end of the day, you need to be paying attention to what is actually right in front of your face, not what you're looking at on a screen."

"It's unnerving, but I probably just sound like an old fuddy-duddy."

With 25 years in the industry, working across TV, film and theatre, the Oscar and Golden Globe nominee shows no sign of letting up in 2016.

In addition to Midnight Special, the in-demand actor will play Elvis Presley, opposite Kevin Spacey, in Liza Johnson's historical film Elvis & Nixon.

Of his transformation into "The King", the former musician says: "I think anybody who wouldn't be intimidated taking it on would be pretty silly."

"I appreciated Elvis' music but I wasn't a fanatic. I learned a lot about him working on the movie, which I'm grateful for, because the more time you spend studying Elvis, the more fascinating he becomes."

But skipping from one job to other, he admits, has its pitfalls.

"Sometimes I think about other actors who take a lot more time off, or seem to be a lot more selective. I look at someone like Daniel Day-Lewis, who really does one movie every two or three years, and sometimes I envy that."

"It's just I'm never quite sure which one is going to be the one. I doubt they'll all be a hit; it's like gambling."

Shannon has spent the majority of our interview turned away from me, and I wonder why someone has flown across the Atlantic to take part in a bout of press interviews if he finds the entire process so laborious.

But perhaps the reason is glaringly obvious: he's committed to his craft, not its malevolent accomplice, 'fame'.

"I am in denial about it," he acknowledges, shifting ever so slightly in my direction.

"I try and go about my business as I always have; I take the subway to work every morning. If someone says, 'Hey, aren't you on TV or something?' I say, 'Yeah, I am', and there's not much more to say about it. It's just an interesting moment in somebody's day."

ALSO OUT THIS WEEK

THE HUNTSMAN: WINTER'S WAR
(12A, 117 MINS)

Drawing inspiration from the Brothers Grimm fairytale Snow White and Hans Christian Andersen's The Snow Queen, The Huntsman: Winter's War is a prequel to the 2012 fantasy Snow White and The Huntsman, tracing the early history of characters in that film. Scheming Queen Ravenna (Charlize Theron) rules over the realm, revisiting her beloved Magic Mirror to assure herself that she is the fairest in the land. When her younger sister Freya (Emily Blunt) gives birth to a girl, the Magic Mirror reveals that the baby daughter will grow up to become the most beautiful woman in the kingdom. Ravenna is consumed with rage and envy – she destroys the child and in the process, her sister. Freya is consumed by grief and metamorphoses from a kind and loving woman into the Ice Queen, who has mastery of the cold. She amasses an army to wreak bloodthirsty revenge on Ravenna and demands that the warriors under her control never open their hearts to love. Alas, Eric the Huntsman (Chris Hemsworth) and Sara (Jessica Chastain), who fight side by side in Freya's army, fall madly in love and are banished from the ranks. Years pass and Freya finally gains control of the Magic Mirror, but she resurrects Ravenna, who promises to unleash hell and plunge the kingdom into total darkness. With the fate of her world hanging in the balance, Freya must beg forgiveness from Eric and Sara and encourage them to work together to overthrow Ravenna.

Soho's seedy side

THE dark side of London's 1950s club culture was the backdrop for Harlow Theatre Club's thrilling performance of black comedy Mojo.

The Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow was pleasingly packed on Saturday night for the final performance of the play written by Jez Butterworth.

Credit should go to the theatre's backstage elves for creating a fantastic set to resemble a shady Soho nightclub from 1958.

The story picks up with four young men from the Atlantic Club plotting to get rich off the back of that night's performer Silver Johnny (played by Oliver Page) who is tipped to be the next Elvis.

However, things turn sour when club owner Ezra is brutally murdered, leaving pill-popping employees Sweets (Martin Colton), Potts (Mitch Rous), Baby (Joe Bishop) and Skinny (Rhys Hayes) to fear for their lives.

The gruff Mickey (Steve

DOUBLE ACT: Potts (Mitch Rous) with Sweets (Martin Colton)

Hannam) takes charge as something of a guardian figure but faces the impossible task of keeping the men in line and Ezra's murderers out.

At its best, Mojo was quick, witty and exciting with plenty of edgy dialogue to hold an icy suspense for the entirety of the two hours and 20 minute running time.

Director Jane Miles, who also shaped the equally brilliant Punk Rock last autumn, perfectly transformed the 1990s West End smash onto a Harlow stage full of local acting talent.

Martin Colton and Mitch Rous were perfectly cast as dimwitted geezer-types but it was Joe Bishop's performance as the troubled and slightly unhinged Baby that really stole the show.

Mojo was a fantastic night's entertainment and sets the bar even higher for whatever Victoria Hall Theatre plan to do next.

FULL TIME PAYROLL CLERK

Payroll administrator required to work within busy accounts department based in Cheshunt. Duties will include collating figures for payroll and processing via Sage Payroll for multiple companies. A high level of Excel skills and experience of Sage Payroll and Auto-enrolment are essential for this role, along with an ability to work to strict deadlines and ability to work under pressure independently, but also as part of a team. The ideal candidate must be someone who is methodical, numerate and possesses a good eye for detail. Other accounts duties may be required so a background knowledge of general accounts would be advantageous.

Please email your CV to elizabeth.johnston@kings-group.net for an immediate interview.

Customer Service staff

Be part of something rewarding, by joining Abellio Greater Anglia you'll be helping our customers get from A to B. With a staff of over 2,500, we operate a busy commuter service from London Liverpool Street to destinations across the east of England.

We have excellent opportunities within our Customer Service department across Tottenham Hale, Broxbourne, Bishops Stortford and Stansted, for six Customer Service staff.

We are looking for talented customer focused individuals, who can deliver excellent service as well as take responsibility for the safety and upkeep of our stations.

These roles cover stations, ticket office, revenue and welcome host.

As a member of the customer service team you will engage our customers on a daily basis in providing route assistant, ensure that all display posters are accurate, providing information on the different types of tickets we sell and making sure all areas of business is clean and tidy.

We are looking for people who have experience in delivering outstanding customer service, excellent communication skills, integrity and discretion and a good eye for detail.

Our Customer Services operation is open from 0400 to 2300, with some on 24 hour, Monday to Sunday. Your working pattern will include early, late, nights, weekends and bank holiday.

To apply for this role, you must have the right to work in the UK, checkable work references and willing to undergo a full drugs and alcohol medical.

To succeed in this role we are looking for people who can bring our four behaviours to life in your everyday work:

- Genuine... be welcoming, customer-centric and respectful
- Professional... be solution-oriented, accountable and delivering to promises
- Proactive... be progressive, innovative and decisive
- Inclusive... be connected in your thinking, empathetic and promote diversity

Abellio Greater Anglia can offer you a great work/life balance alongside a generous salary. If learning, developing and growing your career is as important as great benefits such as free travel, pension, family discounts, childcare vouchers and cycle to work scheme, then apply now, and see what we can do for you!

Savvy mum made obscene amount of money selling husband's old stuff!

Mum of three secretly sold all of her husband's stuff that he had been hoarding from before they were even married, cleaned out the loft and garage. When she broke the news to him, he was slightly upset, but he soon cheered up when she told him she had used the money to book a belated honeymoon they had been promising each other.

Essex County Council

North Essex Parking Partnership (Broadfields, Harlow) Temporary Traffic Restrictions

Notice is hereby given Colchester Borough Council acting on behalf of the North Essex Parking Partnership in exercise of the delegated powers of the traffic authority Essex County Council granted under an Agreement dated 31 March 2011 intends to make the following order under Section 14 (1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

(Broadfields, Harlow) (Temporary Waiting and Loading Restriction) Order 2016

EFFECTS OF THE ORDER: To introduce no waiting and no loading restrictions in those lengths of road described below. The restrictions are required to avoid danger to the public and other traffic on the road and to prevent the likelihood of any such danger occurring.

Broadfields, Harlow

To suspend the following order: School Keep Clear Mon-Fri 8am to 4pm and replace with No waiting and no loading 9am to 3pm Monday to Friday on the following length of road

West Side - from a point opposite the southern building line of number 34 Broadfields, northwest for 20 metres

To suspend the following order: Permit Holders only 8am to 8pm Monday to Saturday on the following length of road

Both sides - from a point in line with the eastern boundary of number 133 south west and then northwest to the end of the carriageway

To introduce the following order: No waiting and no loading 9am to 3pm Monday to Friday on the following length of road

Both Sides from a point in line with entrance to Stanfields Court for a distance of 59.5 metres in easterly and then northerly direction.

The effect of this Order is shown on the attached plans. The District of Harlow (On Street) (Waiting Loading and Parking) (Consolidation) Order 2011 shall be temporarily amended in so far as it relates to the waiting restrictions detailed in this Notice.

The Order will come into operation on 18th April 2016 and may continue in force for up to 18 months.

Richard Walker, Parking Partnership Group Manager, Colchester Borough Council, Rowan House, 33 Sheepen Road, Colchester, CO3 3WG.
Date: 7th April 2016

CHRISTOPHER PAUL OWREND (Deceased)

Pursuant to the Trustee Act 1925 any persons having a claim against or an interest in the Estate of the aforementioned deceased, late of 37 Wissans Harlow Essex, who died on 02/11/2015, are required to send particulars thereof in writing to the undersigned Solicitors on or before 17/06/2016, after which date the Estate will be distributed having regard only to claims and interests of which they have had notice.

Claire Petulengro YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20
Librans have more than just friendship on their mind, so make sure you find out what it is they want from you before you get stuck in an embarrassing situation later this week. Friends could turn into lovers for some of you, so you learn that knowing someone inside out can prove more passionate. Ring now to hear why I don't want you to rule out going back into education.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21
Friends can help you come to terms with a recent loss or a change of some sort. If, that is, you would return their calls and stop distancing yourself from them. Younger faces are going to be telling you silly lies and you would be wise to leave any confrontation until they appear to be back to their sane self. Ring now to hear how unpredictable the moods are and how you can best handle them.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 349 65p per minute

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21
This is a week of investment for you Gemini, both with your time and your emotions. You seem to have a much better understanding of what you want and where you are going. Make sure you are not using a new face in business for the who they know, or you are going to get yourself a reputation. Ring now to hear why it's worth making sure your passport is up to date this summer.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 350 65p per minute

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22
You are finding it hard to focus on the things which should be your priority and instead you are choosing to mix with those who are only capable of telling you half truths. Time to wake up and smell the coffee Cancer, before you end up losing friends and money. Good news from someone in your family circle gives reason for a celebration. Ring now so I can tell you everything.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23
You have been busy doing a very good impression of working when in fact you have actually had your head in the clouds and been living in the past. Why don't you do us all a favour and contact the person who is on your mind. Aspects suggest that they're missing you as much as you are missing them. Ring now to hear why you may need to polish up a couple of languages this year.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22
If you would stop talking and listen to what others are saying this week then you would learn a lot. I know you are trying to put on a brave front, but you are just giving those concerned the impression that you are scatty. A new friend helps you get back on track and leads you into a more constructive lifestyle. Ring now to hear how a change of career could be written in your stars.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23
You have big plans for the future and it is time that you started trying to kick them into shape, rather than just talking about them. Old friends try to get in contact for a reason, which is sure to put a very large smile on your face. Beware of borrowing money too soon, especially if you can't pay it back when you say. Ring now to hear why timing is everything over the next seven days.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 354 65p per minute

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21
Make sure you pay extra attention to the way that you dress this week. You will be crossing paths with those who have the power to make your professional life all you dream plus more. A face you have been spending much time with is damaging your reputation with the way they act. Distance yourself from them while you can still can. Ring now for a glimpse into the future.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 355 65p per minute

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20
Work you do over the coming days is sure to open some really important doors for you. Try not to say negative things about anyone. Keep your cool or you could be accused of starting some trouble which comes to a head on Thursday. You and I know you have better things to put your time and energy into. Ring now to hear how being on time is essential in work.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 356 65p per minute

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20
Rather than trying to get everything your own way, why don't you put your time and effort into listening to what others are trying to say? It's the key to you getting back on track with at least two important faces in your life. A new flirtation has the potential to be something much more, so slow your pace and take in the view. Ring now so I can talk to you through recent mixed messages.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19
Try not to judge those you meet by what you've heard about them, but let them prove to you what they are really all about. You should be in for a pleasant surprise if you do Aquarius! A negative influence in the workplace is not worth confronting, as aspects suggest they will be gone sooner than you think. Ring now to hear how emails and texts are forecast to bring opportunity your way.
FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20
Money seems to be causing you stress but, until you sit down and work out how much you do or don't have, it is going to be difficult for you to know how to progress. Younger people look to you for support, especially at the weekend. Make sure you back up all important phone numbers and information. You're going to need them. ## Oakley warm-up for capital gains

SEVERAL Harlow Running Club members warmed up for the London Marathon by completing the Oakley 20 in Bedfordshire.

The 20-mile trek is the longest run before the big event on Sunday April 24.

Pride of place went to Paulene Galoppi who picked up the female veteran 65 trophy.

She also set a new HRC female Vet 65 record by finishing 718th out of 787 in a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 3hr 44min 03sec.

Another trophy winner was Colin Moody in the men's Vet 65 category, finishing in 234th place in 2:45:59.

Wendy Spring was 482nd in 3:09:52, a PB by more than 29 minutes.

Other times were: Jamie Jephcott (167th in 2:38:36), Martyn Coulter (198th in 2:42:15, debut), John Tennant (254th and 3rd Vet 60 in 2:47:49), Sean Flynn (275th in 2:49:56), Sandi Rust (319th in 2:54:07), Darren Tiley (2:59:26), Catherine Ridge (394th in 2:59:59), Janice Page (469th in 3:08:13), Paul Schroder (484th in 3:09:52, PB), David Page (502nd in 3:12:45) and Kerry Mavris (740th in 3:49:40, debut).

The Paris Marathon was the destination for Will Wall, who finished in 6442nd out of 41,708 runners in 3:36:04.

Also in France at the parkrun du Bois de Boulogne 5K in Paris, Andy Kinney was 60th out of 176 finishers in 26:21.

Meanwhile at the Orion 15 mile race, a very hilly and muddy cross country trek through Epping Forest, Rich Hynes was 20th out of 303 finishers in an excellent 1:55:20 in his debut at the distance.

He was followed home by Julia Gardiner (133rd in 2:23:59, debut), Carinne Jay (141st and 2nd female Vet 45 in 2:25:08) and Andy Bradley (200th in 2:46:33).

At the Reading Half Marathon, Richard Smith was 6726th out of 10,980 in 2:23:19.

Parkrun results:- Harlow 5K: Dan Chapman third out of 123 finishers in a PB of 19:37; Ben Usher (10th in 21:42); Terry Ridge (12th in 22:23); John Bull (17th and 2nd Vet 50 in 22:58); Spencer Brooks (24th in 23:43); Graham Saville (25th and 1st Vet 55 in 23:50); Paul Dixon (28th in 24:01); Alan Cootes (29th and 1st Vet 60 in 24:04); Alan Wellbelove (30th in 24:09); Nicola Smith (35th in 24:57); Debbie Barry (37th and 1st Female Vet 55 in 25:18); Louise Cootes (49th in 27:06); Hossein Erfani (80th and 3rd Vet 60 in 30:52); and Pushpa Mistry (83rd and 3rd Female Vet 50 in 31:21). Hatfield Forest 5K: Owen Haigh 11th out of 211 finishers and third junior in 20:23; Jason Haigh 13th in 20:37; and Peter Mills 129th and 1st Vet 70 in 29:49. Bury St Edmunds 5K (Suffolk): Gary Godfrey 38th out of 235 in 22:34. Chelmsford 5K: Martin McColgan 129th out of 537 finishers in 23:13; David Page 203rd in 24:42; Michelle Hyde 227th in 25:29; and Janice Page was 232nd in 25:33. Gunpowder 5K at Waltham Abbey: Austin Nyamamde 51st out of 129 finishers in a PB of 27:53.

ALEX READ'S stoppage time winner against his old side Tilbury ensured Harlow Town will once again contest the Ryman North play-offs.

The striker turned and fired home through a crowded penalty box just as the Hawks looked set to throw away two points in what proved to be a five-goal thriller after Tilbury struck twice in the last six minutes of normal time.

Earlier, Harlow led 1-0 at half-time after Joe Benjamin's fantastic fifth-minute 25-yard strike.

Read made it 2-0 when he scored from the spot on 53 minutes after a foul in the box by Jack Carlile.

Tilbury pulled a goal back on 84 minutes when Francis Babalola netted at the back post.

Then the Dockers looked set for a draw when Daniel Glozier struck from the spot to make it 2-2 with just three minutes of normal time remaining after a foul by Syrus Gordon.

But then Read had other ideas and bagged his second of the afternoon to secure the three points.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman was not too disheartened by the collapse because they still took the three points.

He said: "I wasn't going to have a pop at them. It showed great character to keep going.

"To be 2-0 up and concede two goals, it looked like a draw and many teams would have accepted that – but we didn't.

"We wanted to cement our place in the play-offs. I was pleased to see the character.

Achieved

"We have achieved a play-off place a month before the end of the season.

"I would have liked to have been closer to Sudbury and win the league," he said.

"But our aim was the play-offs and anything above that was a bonus. We will try to go up this year. We deserve to go up."

Chapman also praised midfielder Gordon, who has come into the side and added more protection to the back four, despite giving away a penalty.

"Syrus has been excellent. The energy he gives us is fantastic," Chapman said.

Winger Junior Dadson has a leg injury but could return for Saturday's trip to London to face Phoenix Sports.

Leaders AFC Sudbury only need a point from their last four games to take the title.

Horton looks for rematch at 02

Boxing

MANAGER Greg Steene will be demanding a big fight for Harlow boxer Richard Horton if he wins at York Hall this month.

The super-middleweight is matched with Richard Harrison at the iconic Bethnal Green venue on Saturday April 16.

He's hoping that victory will lead to a rematch with Tony Dodson.

Horton (right) was narrowly beaten by the former British super-middleweight champion in January live on television channel Dave.

Dodson edged home after six rounds of top-quality action on the undercard of David Haye's comeback fight.

Dodson is back in action at the 02 Arena on Saturday May 21 – and Steene hopes he will face Horton again after coming close to an upset last time around.

Steene said: "That's the fight Richard wants – and I think the fans want to see it as well.

"It was the fight of the night on the last David Haye show and Richard did more than enough to deserve a rematch.

"Dodson looked like he had been in a car crash after the fight."

Steene says he will look to set up the rematch for Horton providing he wins this month.

Horton is vastly more experienced than Harrison, but the 30-year-old from Chessington is a handful.

Earlier this year, he had hot prospect Charlie Duffield on the canvas before losing in front of the Sky Sports cameras.

The top-of-the-bill fight on the show, billed as 'No Quarter Asked, No Quarter Given' is a clash between knockout specialist Arthur Hermann and unbeaten Asinia Byfield for the vacant Southern Area super-welterweight title.

Tickets for Horton's fight at York Hall are available from 07572 421365.

U18 Hawks cap super season

THE future's bright for Harlow Hawks Basketball Club after a successful season for its U18 team in the England National Development League.

Although the youngsters – preparing for a summer tournament in Spain – missed out on a play-off place, they can be very satisfied with a fantastic campaign.

The Harlow side finished third out of nine teams in the Eastern Division.

Competing against the likes of Cambridge, Southend, East Herts, Milton Keynes and Brentwood, the team recorded ten wins and just six losses.

They missed out on a spot in the end-of-season play-offs by eight points.

They score a phenomenal 1042 points during their 16 matches.

Club coach Shab Niaz said: "The U18 National League team finished their league schedule unfortunately with a loss and have finished third in their division which is an absolutely brilliant achievement considering they finished bottom of the table last year."

The team are coached by senior first team player Lee Morris.

Although they lost their last game they managed to beat close rivals the Essex Blades in their final home match.

"Even though we didn't make the play-offs, it was a great effort by the team this year," said Niaz. A number of the players on the U18 team will be too old to play in this age group next year.

Half of the U18 team are the first set of players that have effectively gone through the whole junior programme at the Harlow club, from when they started as part of the U11 teams that competed in the Junior Central Venue League.

Play-off hopes are blasted

LEVETT Essex Leopards' play-off dreams were ended by a disastrous fourth period at Reading Rockets as they lost 102-84 on Sunday.

The Big Cats were outscored 40-19 in the final quarter against their old rivals as their hopes of a sixth successive appearance in the semi-finals were ended.

Ladi Brown hit 14 points, a ten-rebound double-double, with Courtney van Beest also finishing with 14 points.

Justin Hitchman added 12 points, with Albert Margai and Evan Walshe finishing with ten points apiece, adding seven and four assists respectively.

Former Leopard Dave Ajumobi came back to haunt his old side, finishing with 21 points.

The visitors, who were without Will Ashby, started slowly, trailing 13-6, but recovered to cut the deficit to 20-17 at the first break, and a good final five first-half minutes saw them outscore Rockets 16-10 to take a 45-42 lead into the locker room.

The Big Cats looked to have taken control of the game midway through the third period as an 8-0 run, capped by a Brown basket, put them 58-50 ahead.

However, Reading replied with ten unanswered points to lead 60-58 before a Brown trey and a Tosin Oyelese two gave them a 65-62 lead at the final break.

That proved to be as good as it got for the visitors, as three straight turnovers helped Rockets regain the lead in the first minute, as they were outscored 18-9 to trail 80-74 with five minutes remaining and the home side comfortably saw out the win.

Baker cooked

HARLOW Rugby Club reached the second round of the Essex Second Team Cup with a 56-0 home thrashing of May & Baker.

Try scorers were Alfie Clark (2), Ryan Clark, Chris Ellis (2), Andy Quinn, Dan Makepeace, Ashley Westall, Alex Beard and Ali Phillips.

Chay Clark slotted over three conversions.

The Rams host Thurrock in the next round on Saturday.

Ford gears up for big season after top start

Fifth place a plus for only woman in motorbike series

Motor-racing

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

SHE may have been the only woman competing in the No Limits Racing motorcycling season opener at Oulton Park, but that did not stop Harlow's Nicole Ford making quite an impression.

She started off the event with a fantastic fifth place finish in the first race, with the former Stewards School student occupying a podium spot until near the end of the event.

She then endured plenty of ups and down before the final race was curtailed due to the wet weather.

Having had a new engine fitted, Ford took to testing with gusto.

"By the afternoon I was comfortable with the bike and felt I was confident on track too," she said.

She ended the first session to qualify in fifth place with a time of 1min 41sec, which gave her huge encouragement that she could fulfil the top ten spot she wanted.

In race one she started fifth on the grid.

"I was buzzing and really excited to get the race under way. Being so far up the front felt quiet odd knowing there where 30 people behind me and they were all men," she joked.

But her eagerness was her downfall as she made the worst possible start, losing ten spaces by turn one.

Halfway through the race she had worked her way back up to seventh.

"Knowing there was only a few laps left I pushed on and at one point was in third place and ready for a podium finish," she said.

"I think my fitness let me down and I just couldn't keep the pace up for the amount of time left in the race, dropping back into fourth and then on the last lap getting overtaken by a racer who I had been battling with for half the race who then took my fourth place crossing the line.

"I finished with a fifth and was more than happy with that. I also had a new PB (lap personal best) of 1:34."

Disappointing

The following day she found herself in 32nd on the grid, finishing with a disappointing lap PB of 1:51 despite dry conditions.

"To say I was devastated was an understatement. The bike felt like somebody else's and I couldn't get used to the changes fast enough," she explained.

She improved to start seventh in the third race.

She dropped to 15th in the race before noticing a mechanical problem which ended this one early for the Harlow racer.

In her fourth race she progressed from 32nd to 22nd with a fastest lap of 1:39.

She then awaited her fifth and final race but this proved a washout as the rain came.

She will hope to improve on her times and results when the series moves to Snetterton Park in Norfolk on April 15-16.

Title almost gone as Cooperians get barrel of tries

RFU London Division Three North East

Old Cooperians ..... 40
Epping Upper Clapton ..... 8

OLD Cooperians overwhelmed Epping Upper Clapton to move above them at the top of the Division Three North West table.

But Clapton can console themselves with the fact that they have taken the second promotion spot and a second successive promotion.

They are three points behind Cooperians now, who must still win their final two matches against Stowmarket and lowly Beccles to seal the title.

But with Clapton facing tough games against May & Baker and Lowestoft & Yarmouth, the title is surely in the hands of the Upminster-based side.

Four tries from coach Patrick Reed put paid to the Thornwood

Common-based outfit, who were 40-3 down until a late consolation try, by far their heaviest defeat of the season.

Skipper Harry Fayers scored the hosts' first try after five minutes, though the conversion was missed.

Tom Morgan stretched their lead with a penalty for offside in the 19th minute.

The visitors hit back with a penalty of their own five minutes later, but that would be the only time they would trouble the scorers in the first half.

Morgan slotted over another penalty in the 29th minute to make it 11-3.

With five minutes to go until half-time, the hosts moved further clear as Reed beat two defenders on a superb run to cross under the posts.

Morgan was sin-binned but Clapton failed to take advantage.

After the break Morgan made amends when he chased a kick through to score.

Reed scored his second after a flowing move, which Joe Bilton converted.

Reed crossed again after a strong maul in the 76th minute and then added a fourth try two minutes later.

The visitors crossed with the final play of the match when Dean McFarlane touched down.

NEED FOR READ!

Striker hits red-hot form as Hawks seal play-off spot

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman says key striker Alex Read has hit peak form at just the right time as the side get ready for the end of season play-offs.

Harlow Town secured a 3-0 win at Bury Town on Tuesday, but had already sealed their play-off spot for the third season running on Saturday when Read hit a last-minute winner at home to his old club Tilbury.

Read now has 130 goals in his three seasons at Harlow. He has more than 180 in total with his spells at Brentwood Town, Tilbury and Aveley.

Chapman said: "He is our main striker and has been on top of the goalscoring charts for the last few seasons and he has hit form at a great stage.

"You just have to look at the amount of goals he has got over the last three years. It's a fantastic achievement and something to be proud of.

"That's his job, but take nothing away from him. I think the way we play helps Alex. He needs chances to do what he does best."

After suffering defeat in the play-off final and the play-off semi-final over the last two seasons, Chapman and his men are hungry to make it third time lucky.

He is convinced Read can still get plenty of goals in the Premier Division, and wants to secure promotion to give him that opportunity to test himself at a higher level.

Loyal

"He is a very loyal lad. He has had other opportunities but he knows what we are trying to achieve and wants to be part of that.

"It's a bigger challenge [in the Premier Division]. There is a big difference, certainly with the top eight or ten teams. But the ones at the bottom of the league are similar to the ones at the top of the Ryman North and South."

Harlow went above Thurrock and into second spot with Tuesday's win at Bury.

Chapman knows runner-up spot is crucial to get a home tie in the play-off semi-final, but says there could be more twists and turns in the last three games, even though he acknowledges it will be a surprise if Thurrock don't win all three.

"The league has been so inconsistent. On paper you would expect Thurrock to win all three but you just never know."

Harlow took the lead against Bury after only four minutes when Layne Eadie's terrific run ended with him unleashing a stunning 25-yard effort which curled into a top corner.

It was 2-0 just ten minutes later when Leon Antoine's powerful header found the net.

Harlow's third came on 36 minutes when Jared Small volleyed home.

Harlow are away to Phoenix Sports on Saturday.

Wanstead flatten Rams in dire show

IT might have been a case of over-indulging at Easter but Rams director of rugby Lee Harron was certainly not 'egg-static' after his side's woeful performance at Wanstead on Saturday.

After two good wins against West Norfolk and Lowestoft & Yarmouth with the 'no train, no play policy' starting to pay dividends with improved numbers at training, Harlow should have won this game.

But the Rams were way off the pace, producing their worst performance for some time.

They were out-muscled and out-gunned in the tackle and breakdown area by a physical Wanstead side.

Time after time Harlow failed to look after the ball at the breakdown through a lack of support or tenacity and either gave penalties away or got turned over in this vital area.

Pressure

Harlow were also under pressure at the scrummage and line-out, losing possession on their own ball.

The return of scrum-half Charlie Woodington and number eight Kain Claridge were plusses.

If fifth-placed Southwold win their game in hand, the Suffolk side will be gunning for Harlow's top four spot. The Rams will seal fourth if they win their final game at home to Upminster on April 16.

Harlow are away to May and Baker in the Essex Cup semi-final this Saturday.

"Should we want to progress then we will need to toughen up considerably and be prepared to work harder and be more precise in the tackle and breakdown area," said Harron.

HARLOW: Christy, Bowering, Fitzgerald, Twiner, Palmer, Roberts, Clark, Robertson, McGlone, Smith, D. Stalley, R. Stalley, S. Stalley; Mackie, Brown. Subs: Cunningham, Claridge, Woodington.
